Professional Experience

Jenny Turner is a corporate real estate portfolio expert with more than 15 years of experience. As a Senior Vice President, she serves as an Account Executive and Single Point of Contact on an 18-person corporate real estate portfolio team led by Gary Gregg and Eric Walker. The team manages more than 170 million square feet globally for mid-sized private companies and Fortune 500 organizations across diverse industries.

Jenny specializes in Class A office, industrial, and banking portfolios. She leads portfolio strategy, manages lease negotiations, and oversees property dispositions. Acting as the single point of contact for her clients, she ensures seamless communication, execution, and strategic alignment across all transactions. Jenny works closely with internal teams, brokers, and client stakeholders to deliver solutions that support operational goals, cultural fit, and long-term performance.

Before joining Cresa, Jenny gained experience across multiple service platforms. She spent six years at CBRE, moving from research into brokerage with a focus on office transactions. She later served as a Portfolio Account Manager at Mohr Partners, overseeing national occupier portfolios, and continued her advisory work at Savills, specializing in tenant representation for major corporate clients.
