

Jason Jones

Managing Principal Hybrid Workforce Services / Business Technology Sourcing

Professional Experience

Jason leads Cresa Hybrid Workforce Services and Cresa Business Technology Sourcing. Hybrid Workforce Services helps clients navigate all of the critical requirements of a balanced hybrid work strategy including human resources, operations, technology, compliance, finance and real estate. He and his team identify potential improvements and make recommendations to support your employees - no matter where they work. Business Technology Sourcing helps companies select and implement technology such as unified communications, internet, call center, cybersecurity, and cloud computing. Jason helps clients select and implement the cutting edge solutions that support their specific business needs and ensures coordination between the real estate and IT departments, especially when relocating. Both service lines leverage Human Resources, technology, and real estate to accelerate performance, improve talent attraction/retention, and maximize financial results.
