

Steven J. Schaumberg

Managing Principal

Professional Experience

Steve is a Managing Principal of Cresa's Washington, DC regional offices. He specializes in high-value, time-critical and complex transactions for all types of space users, including information technology, life science, law firms, associations and other corporations. He is responsible for the strategic planning, financial analysis, business terms structuring and negotiation aspects of these projects. His expertise includes an in-depth command of the greater Washington, DC market and the facility acquisition process.

Clients

- Robert Half International
- AXA Space
- Earth Satellite Corporation
- The Motley Fool
- WorldSpace
- Wiley Rein, LLP
- Bread for the World
- Stanley Martin Companies
- American Institute for Research

Affiliations

Steve is a member of the Commercial Real Estate Brokers Association of Washington DC.

Education

Steve received his B.A. in economics from Tulane University and was a student of continued studies at the University of Grenoble in France.

Contact

301.841.6502 office
301.526.1300 mobile
jdoe@cresa.com