

Adam Goldberg

Senior Advisor, Workplace Planning
Boston

Professional Experience

Adam focuses on data management, stakeholder engagement, design planning, and project management for our portfolio accounts. As part of the Workplace Strategy and Planning team, Adam helps maintain and analyze clients' ever-changing employee and location data, ensuring space needs are properly planned for and addressed through physical modifications or moves.

Education

Adam graduated from Northeastern University in 2010 with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Architecture.

Personal Interests

Adam enjoys spending time with his young children and is working hard to ensure they become Boston sports fans. He also likes to try new foods and restaurants as often as possible and has recently made woodworking one of his hobbies.
