

Sean Naughton

Senior Financial Analyst
Boston

Professional Experience

As a Senior Financial Analyst, Sean supports Cresa's global advisory teams through comprehensive financial analysis and cash flow modeling to assist in the management of the client's portfolio expansions and real estate strategy optimization. Prior to joining Cresa, Sean worked for six years at a privately held commercial real estate investments firm that worked closely with the world's top advisory and lending firms. This experience provides his team and advisor clients with insight into the landlord's perspective of real estate finance.

Education

Sean received his Bachelor of Science in Business Management and Marketing from Bentley University in 2015. He has also received a Certificate in Negotiation Mastery from Harvard Business School Online.

Affiliations

Sean is a member of The Ireland Funds, the National Association of Industrial & Office Professions (NAIOP), and the Real Estate Finance Association (REFA).

Personal Interests

Outside of work, Sean enjoys spending time with family and friends as well as traveling and recreational sports.
