

Alex Ross

Senior Advisor
Chicago

Professional Experience

Alex Ross applies years of experience building long-term value for companies across diverse industries, including private equity, venture capital, technology, and real estate.

Prior to joining Cresa, Alex served as a lead project manager for Stapleton Group, a Receiver in the distressed real estate space. Prior to Stapleton, he served as the managing partner of Albatross Ventures, an opportunistic investment fund focused on distressed assets and intellectual property. Prior to Albatross, he was a director of a single-family office where he optimized operations and spearheaded alternative investment strategies and business development.

Education

- The University of Kansas, B.G.S. Communication Studies, minor in Business

Contact

847.917.9830 cell
aross@cresa.com