

Frank Malawski

Senior Project Manager Chicago

Professional Experience

Frank Malawski joined Cresa in 2026 as a Senior Project Manager, bringing over 16 years of experience in the AEC industry, including eight years focused on land development. He provides the level of detail required for all stakeholders, including preconstruction scheduling, budgets, utilities, easements, and identifying potential off-site work required to meet local requirements. This approach ensures proper risk assessment across all aspects of the real estate deal and supports successful project execution.

Previously, Frank held roles focused on managing national, multi-site retail projects across the continental United States, navigating various unique jurisdictional challenges such as shared kitchens, dispensaries, ground-based solar, and traditional buildouts for restaurant, daycare, industrial, retail, and tenant improvement projects.

Frank graduated with honors from the Illinois Institute of Technology with a bachelor's degree in architecture, specializing in city, urban, community, and regional planning, with a minor in construction management.
