

Matt Ryder

Managing Principal Cresa Consulting Group

Professional Experience

Matt Ryder brings 15 years of operations strategy experience including 10 years within Newmark Grubb Knight Frank's Global Corporate Services Group. He focuses his consulting practice in three areas. The first is streamlining complex operational decision making which includes decisions relating to supply chain, location strategy, and real estate portfolio optimization. The second is economic development incentives analysis and negotiation. The third is implementation planning and execution, connecting operational strategy to final execution.
