Vice President – Project Management
Dallas

Professional Experience

As Vice President of Project Management with over 20 years of construction and project management experience, Ed Miank partners with Cresa’s advisory team and clients to minimize risk while strategically balancing project quality, cost, and timely delivery. His exceptional communication skills, collaborative leadership, and meticulous attention to detail keep projects on momentum—turning potential obstacles into seamless progress and consistently meeting budgets and schedules. Ed has successfully delivered more than 80 commercial projects across Texas, including leadership on major initiatives such as the new General Dynamics facility in Mesquite and the Neiman Marcus Group construction at Cityplace Tower.
