

REBECCA BAKKE

Principal | Project Manager

Project & Development Services, Transition & Relocation Management, Project Management

Rebecca is responsible for the end-to-end success of projects. She works closely with clients on-site to identify the objectives and key performance indicators for each initiative and oversees both high-level strategies and day-to-day coordination to deliver successful projects. Known for her pre-construction planning and project management skills, Rebecca is especially adept in cost forecasting, scope evaluation projects, process improvement, and team development.

Rebecca leads the Denver project management team and is a nationally elected member of Cresa's National Project Management Leadership Team (PMLT). Her role strengthens Cresa's best-in-class client service delivery, next-gen service innovation, and connects her to best practices firm-wide. Her leadership role provides a distinct advantage to her clients through her elevated connectedness with leading PMs in various geographies and real-time insights into Cresa's extensive project management portfolio.
