

Daniel Taormina

Vice President
New York

Professional Experience

Daniel joins the Cresa New York office as a Vice President of transaction management. With over five years of real estate experience, Dan specializes in commercial occupier representation in the Manhattan office market. He has represented clients including NYC-based developers and attorneys, tech startup Bowery Farming and real estate digital media company Bisnow.

Prior to Cresa, Dan worked as an Associate Director at Coldwell Banker Advisors and a Licensed Real Estate Salesperson at Bold New York. Through both experiences, Dan obtained in-depth commercial real estate knowledge throughout the Manhattan office market as well as Brooklyn. Through his professional relationships, he successfully executed marketing campaigns to increase client lead generation, and strategically advise occupiers on custom real estate solutions.

Education

Daniel received a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Management and Finance from Providence College.
