

Kevin Mackey

Principal, Integrated Consulting Solutions New York

Kevin P. Mackey has joined the New York office of Cresa as a Principal leading the Integrated Consulting Solutions (ICS) service line. An IT and construction specialist, Kevin and the ICS team will consult on such office-based technologies as digital ceilings, LED lighting systems, Power over Ethernet (PoE) programs, Digital Antenna Systems (DAS), and more. ICS has been established to advise current and prospective clients on best practices to optimize the advantages offered by IoT solutions and technology-based energy savings, including PoE lighting. ICS will collaborate with architects, engineers, lighting designers, manufacturers and end-users.

Professional Experience

Prior to joining Cresa, Mr. Mackey was the managing director for Security by Design and Wire Works Business Systems. His expertise encompasses PoE lighting integration, designing and implementing infrastructure cabling, electronic security integration, audio-visual design, sound masking systems, antenna systems and wireless platforms. Earlier in his career, he owned and operated his own firm specializing in IT fit-outs for more than 20 years.
