

Peter Neunborn

Director, Project Management
Perth, Western Australia

Professional Experience

Peter is a seasoned property and construction project manager. With two decades of experience in Western Australia, he has developed a specialty in client-side project management and has successfully delivered new building works, refurbishments, client fit-outs and land developments (including environmental rehabilitation). These have been in the Aviation, Commercial, Retail, Hospitality, Government, Industrial, Education and Community market sectors.

As a Director of LPC Cresa's Project Management practice, Peter uses his extensive experience in contract negotiation and management to provide technical expertise and client requirement assessment. His ability to coordinate executive level project stakeholders and participants as well as his in-depth knowledge of procurement processes and risk management enables him to deliver large, complex and integrated projects within cost and time constraints.
