

Jason Wery

Managing Principal, Project Management Phoenix

Professional Experience

Jason's experience in the architectural, real estate development, construction management, and general contracting disciplines merits a strong understanding of each aspect of the design and construction process. Jason's construction industry experience results in successful projects within budget and schedule through contract evaluations, budget analysis, schedule review and contract review. His responsibilities include identifying, prequalifying, and overseeing all project team members.

Additionally, Jason focuses on regional and national project strategies and execution through appropriate team assembly and alignment in different markets to benefit his clients. Involvement in national corporate committees provides him insight into understanding the strength of project partners in multiple markets that ultimately results in successful project delivery.
