

Nan Reed

Project Manager San Francisco

Professional Experience

Nan has over 25 years of design and project management experience on commercial projects in the corporate office, hospitality and institutional sectors. Nan has worked with clients in the Bay Area and the Northeastern United States on projects from single tenant office occupiers to multi phased, multi-million dollar corporate headquarters. As a project manager Nan has expertise in all aspects of a project identifying programmatic needs, building teams, guiding the design process, and overseeing construction. Her experience includes working with high tech, legal, energy, non-profit, consulting, financial and educational institutions.

With a focus on exceeding client's expectations, Nan identifies and resolves issues before they become problems. She provides comprehensive information for clients to make educated decisions. Her client's budget, schedule and design goals and objectives are referenced and updated throughout the process so that the end user, design, and construction teams are tracking toward the stated goals.
