

David Sidell

Vice President, Project Management

Professional Experience

David brings over six years of experience in workplace strategy and project logistics to Cresa. He believes in execution excellence and works closely with clients while managing their vendors to ensure successful, thoughtful project outcomes. Prior to Cresa, David developed an extensive background in workplace trends for Bialek Environments, a Herman Miller dealer. His ability to create and implement strategic workspace strategy provides growth-ready built environments to meet his client's immediate and future needs.
