

Stephen Carlson

Principal
San Francisco

Professional Experience

As a Principal at Cresa San Francisco, Stephen's exclusive focus on the representation of life science tenants throughout the Bay Area has allowed him to develop a competitive advantage for his clients. Stephen consistently exceeds client expectations through his work ethic, integrity, and thoughtful approach to facility planning and transaction management. In 2012, Stephen was selected as a CoStar Power Broker. He was also named as one of Cresa's top producers nationally in 2013, 2014 and 2016. In 2017, he was also recognized by Cresa as a "rising star," given to select brokers across the country.

An expert in creative spaces and the latest space trends, Stephen helps his clients synthesize their business objectives and real estate strategy while keeping company culture and employee retention at the forefront of the planning process. Stephen's LEED accreditation enables him to assist clients with sustainable site selection and tenant improvement planning.
