

John Walsh

Vice President
San Francisco

Professional Experience

John Walsh joins the Cresa San Francisco team with over ten years of commercial real estate experience. Leveraging his knowledge from years working with the Bay Area's largest landlord's, John brings a unique perspective to the tenants of San Francisco's dynamic real estate market.

With a strong focus on relationship development and tactical economics, John's expertise provides extensive value to all of his clients. Prior to joining Cresa, John spent 7 years with The CAC Group providing financial analysis and research development before joining CBRE in 2013. Transitioning into tenant representation, John calls upon his background in financial planning, lease analysis, and strategic negotiation to serve the long-term goals of his clients.

John graduated from UC Davis, graduating with a double major economics and political science and serving as captain of the UC Davis rugby team while also hosting a weekly morning radio program. He and his wife reside in San Francisco's beautiful Richmond District.
