

Eric Pinchak

Vice President
Philadelphia, PA

Professional Experience

Eric has spent his entire real estate career at Cresa exclusively representing the interests of commercial occupiers. He believes in Cresa's ethics as an organization and its dedication to the occupier-only platform. Throughout his career, he has represented single and multi-site portfolios of office, medical, industrial, manufacturing, and logistics organizations on projects across North America and established himself as a seasoned professional and trusted advisor for companies of many sizes.

He possesses exceptional leadership skills, dedicates time to teach new associates, treats every project as if they were his own, and is highly effective at succinct communication, planning, negotiating, tracking, and reporting. He has strong analytical skills and has built a variety of customized financial models for his clients and Cresa. Eric's unique blend of strategic thinking, work ethic, and interpersonal skills set him apart in the industry.

Over his career, Eric has successfully leveraged all of Cresa's resources and has participated in every service line delivery, each of which were created to better serve the occupier's best interests.
